On the 21st of January 1909 there was a big storm near the coast at Quobba. I watched from the life boat as the last of the ship disappeared under the waves. I looked around and all I could see were smashed pieces of wood. I must have fallen asleep. When I woke up I saw land on the horizon and I was excited. “Land Ahoy!” I shouted, even though only the cat could hear me. As my boat came closer to the shore I saw that it was an island. I looked on my map and saw that it was Australia. I went ashore and met a tribe of Aboriginals and I said “Do you speak English?”. One of them said “Yes”. I gave them some of my treasure and they said “We would be happy for you to stay with us”. THE END

Congratulations to Tessa Meecham, who not only won the Year 6 Interschool Cross Country Run, but also broke the record!

Principal’s Award

Jaspa

Below: Jaspa fabulous story. Well done Jaspa!

Above: Author Norman Jorgensen with teacher John McClory and Shire of Carnarvon Librarian Natalie Whitley. Mr Jorgensen visited SOTA on Wednesday as part of Book Week. He entertained us all with stories of how he came up with his ideas for writing and read to us from his book, ‘In Flanders Field’.

A huge thank you from all of us at CSOTA!
